Additional information

¹ System responsible for the coverage of your deposit

² General coverage limit

If a deposit is generally and permanently unavailable due to a credit institution's failure to meet its financial obligations towards depositors under the current legislation, followed by the competent supervisory authority's decision or court ruling, depositors are repaid by the Hellenic Deposit and Investment Guarantee Fund.

This repayment covers a maximum of EUR one hundred thousand (100.000). This means that all eligible deposits of a depositor at the same credit institution are added up in order to set the coverage level. If, for instance a depositor holds a savings account with EUR 90.000 and a current account with EUR 20.000, he/she will only be reimbursed for the amount of EUR 100.000.

⁵ Reimbursement

Reimbursement will be repaid by TEKE within seven (7) working days from the date the competent supervisory authority issues the decision or the court issues the ruling, as provided by law. For some types of deposits this deadline may be extended up to a maximum of three (3) months.

The depositor's right for compensation is barred after five (5) years from the above deadlines.

To calculate the amount of reimbursement, deposit account balances are offset with any liabilities the depositor has towards the credit institution, in so far they became payable on or before the date of the credit institution's failure.
